Premier Pattullo and Cabinet Colleagues Interview Dominion Cabinet and Request Appointment of Commission to Report on Adequacy of Subsidies Paid to This Province

ASK C.N.R. TAKE OVER P.G.E. LINE

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—A royal commission to investigate the adequacy of Dominion subsidies to British Columbia was sought to-day by Premier Pattullo. No immediate reply was made by Premier Bennett, who heard the appeal with the entire cabinet.

For two hours this forenoon the Premier and two of his cabinet, Attorney-General O. M. Sloan and Minister of Finance John Hart, were conferred with the Dominion cabinet.

In the afternoon the British Columbia ministers again interviewed the cabinet, when Premier Pattullo made an appeal that the Pacific Great Eastern Railway be merged in the Canadian National Railway system, as with the subsidies, Premier Bennett, who heard the request, surrounded by his cabinet, gave no immediate answer, indicating he would refer the request to the Dominion cabinet.

ONTARIO MAY RECOVER MONEY

Toronto, Aug. 2.—Arthur G. Hought, K.C., to-day led the "Ontario" case against the federal government, claiming that the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission's acquisition of the Ontario Power Service Corporation assets might result in recovery by the province of sums of money.

Mr. Hought, in his opening address, said that the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, which he did not charge, after calling on the commission to take steps to obtain evidence in New York of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission's acquisition of the Ontario Power Service Corporation assets, might result in recovery by the province of sums of money.

LEO DIEGEL GOLF LEADER

U.S. Pro Breaks Course Record With 65 to Lead in Canadian Open Tourney.

Canadian Press
Lakeview Golf Club, Toronto, Aug. 2.—Playing in a rain and wind storm, Leo Diegel, four times winner of the title, beat Lakeview's par by five strokes to-day and went into a commanding lead in the first stage of the Canadian open golf championship with a score of 65. Taking a 34 going out in good weather, the stylist from Germantown, Pa., shook off the handicaps of wind and rain, coming home to chalk up a 31, four under par.

Diegel, an immense favorite with Canadian galleries, rimmed the cup on the eighteenth or he would have had a 64. The par of 70 has never been broken here. At the eighteenth he was to the side of the green and down a slope. His third was sixty-five feet from the hole and the fourth just rimmed it.

Diegel's spectacular round was four strokes better than anything that had been turned in before to-day. He started out with a sport and never let "Old Man Par" get him down. Diegel thumped his followers from the tee-off and they cheered his good shots and moaned when he missed close ones.

He ripped off a birdie on the first hole, the yard long, got another on the short third and was even with par for the rest of the first round until the sixth when he went one over. His five-under-par round down the fairways home was as thrilling a round as the Canadian open has seen in years. After taking a four on the ninth he ripped off birdies on the tenth and eleventh, managed the twelfth in par and got three on the thirteenth and fourteenth, both of them birdies.

He was again one under par and the second putt on the eighteenth put him one over there.

Just after Diegel finished, Tommy Armour, the four-foot Scot from Chicago, blazed home with a 66, three strokes better than anyone else who had finished before him. He was one in 34, one under, and was even with par on the way home.

Jail Delivery Plot In Toronto Foiled To-day By Guards

MINISTERS GIVE MARCHERS MONEY

Toronto, Aug. 2.—Premier Mitchell Hepburn to-day passed the hat around among his cabinet ministers and collected money to assist the Ontario hunger marchers to buy food while on the way to their homes. Mr. Hepburn contributed $50 of his own money and the other ministers chipped in to the extent of $6 each, a total of $46.

The marchers went home in highway department trucks which were placed at their disposal with drivers. On the way to Toronto earlier in the week they refused to ride in government trucks.

Los Angeles, Aug. 2.—The will of the late Marie Dressler was filed for probate to-day. Actual value of the estate was not given, but it was estimated to be $300,000 or more. Mamie Cox, negro maid who was in the service of the actress for a quarter of a century, was bequeathed $55,000 and all the actress' wearing apparel. Jerry Cox, the maid's husband, and chauffeur and house man for the late actress, was left $15,000 and her automobiles.

Rope Made of Bedsheets, 59 Feet Long, Found By Observant Warden; Stated Dozen Prisoners Expected to Get Out

Hoped to Scale High Brick Wall

Toronto, Aug. 2.—Wardens' authorities described an attempted organized delivery of prisoners from the Toronto jail was frustrated to-day with the finding by a guard of a fifty-nine-foot rope made from prison bed sheets.

No official statement was made regarding the planned break, but officials revealed the plot was formed in corridor three of the jail, located on the bank of the Don River. It is in that corridor Alwynne Thompson is held on a charge of perjury following the slaying of his youthful wife two weeks ago to-day.

The long improvised "rope" with a hook on one end, presumably was woven during the night. It was believed about a dozen prisoners planned to use it to scale the tall brick wall during the exercise period this morning, authorities said.

A guard, however, discovered the shenanigans prior to the exercise period and the prisoners were kept in their cells pending a full inquiry.

SASH AND DOOR WAGE IS FIXED

Industrial Relations Board Sets 35 Cents an Hour Minimum

Between 400 and 500 employees in the sash and door manufacturing industry in British Columbia were brought under the minimum wage law in an order approved by the Board of Industrial Relations. It was announced by Adam Bell, chairman, this morning.

The order is number eleven in the board's list since it started four months ago and sets a minimum scale of thirty-five cents an hour for all adult male employees and twenty-five cents an hour for those between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one years.

It will be gazetted next week and become effective August 24.

Representations were heard by the board from twelve different firms engaged in this business, and yesterday evening in Vancouver a hearing of employees was held.

The scale is defined as covering all firms engaged in the manufacture of sashes and doors, sashcases, sashblades, office and store fixtures, wooden furniture and general mill work.

As Reich Prepares For The Hindenburg Funeral Hitler Becomes President

Hindenburg Died With Son At Side

German President's Two Married Daughters Also With Him at the End

By Günther Reubert
Associated Press Foreign Staff
Neudeck, Germany, Aug. 2.—President von Hindenburg lost his last battle at 9 a.m. to-day. It was his battle against death.

To Germany's leading field marshal, the man who had fought in his eighty-six years of life through every hell of war, death came quietly.

It slipped into the big, yellow mansion on the hill of the estate Hindenburg loved so well. It was this mansion that a grateful nation recently enlarged as token of its gratitude.

At the bedside, when death came, were four state physicians and members of President von Hindenburg's family, including his son, Col. Oskar von Hindenburg, and two daughters, Frau Irminde von Brockhausen and Frau Anna Marie von Bente.

The physicians had done their best against a prostate gland disorder and the infirmities of old age, but at the last all they could do was stand by, astonished that the strong old heart could stand out against these complications for so long. They had given up hope early yesterday evening.

Army Problem For Hitler Now

British Doubt German Forces Will Be as Loyal to Him as to Late Chief

Associated Press
London, Aug. 2.—Sincere regret and considerable apprehension over the political future of Germany was caused in British government circles to-day by the death of President Paul von Hindenburg.

Even during the war years, when German artillery on the Belgian coast menaced England, all Britons held the German military leader in great respect.

Since the war years Hindenburg had been regarded as the chief stabilizing force for both Republican and Hitlerite Germany.

The news that Chancellor Adolf Hitler had taken over the presidency as well as the Chancellorship came as a surprise.

By Virtual Coup d'etat Chancellor Makes Himself Unquestioned Dictator of Germany; Cabinet Decree Passed Before Death of President von Hindenburg

Big State Funeral For Late Chief

By Louis F. Lochner
Associated Press Foreign Staff
Berlin, Aug. 2.—President Paul von Hindenburg died to-day and Chancellor Adolf Hitler made himself absolute and unquestioned dictator of Germany by a virtual coup d'etat.

The Austrian-born former lance corporal became President as well as Chancellor of Germany at 9 o'clock this morning when President von Hindenburg passed away at his country estate at Neudeck.

Hitler's cabinet ministers yesterday evening had prepared a decree setting forth that their chief should be President when Hindenburg died. Consequently Germany was left without a President for even a minute.

Within seven hours of the death of the eighty-six-year-old chief of the state, the government had decreed that the German people shall hold a presidential plebiscite August 19, intended to show whether the country approved of the late President and the Nazi government.

Arrangements were begun for state funeral rites for Hindenburg. It was decided to hold a state funeral service at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Tannenberg, where the field marshal turned back the invading Russians in 1914.

Mayor Leeming Extends Welcome to National Convention Delegates As Conclave Is Opened Here To-day; President's Address Delivered By Dr. Arthur Poyntz

"Once you apply the Golden Rule — love thy neighbor — to the activities of life, you have solved all your economic problems," Mayor Leeming said this morning in extending the city's welcome at the opening session of the Kinsmen national convention.

Around 150 delegates from various parts of the Dominion were gathered in the Duke of Kent lounge at the Empress Hotel for the opening formalities and the first business session, with Dr. Arthur Poyntz, national president, in the chair, and Alvin H. Hinchman, vice-president, and Archie W. Smith, secretary, on either side of him.

The mayor expressed the hope that the concept of kinship would not result in an excessive nationalism, but that it would be extended to cover an international field.

Rev. T. R. Lancaster, M.A., delivered the invocation.

After the appointment of various committees, the reading of minutes of the 1933 convention and other routine business, Dr. Poyntz read the annual report of the national president.

German Army Swears To Obey Hitler

DEPUTY PAY RESPECTS

Before 10 a.m., diplomats began arriving at the executive palace in Berlin to pay their respects. Crowds thronged the Wilhelmstrasse. President von Hindenburg had been critically ill only since Sunday. Physicians had expressed amazement at his heart's stubborn resistance to disease and the infirmities of age.

CABINET ACTS

When word came, Hitler and his staff cabinet were prepared. In a solemn ceremony, the cabinet adopted a decree revoking a law of 1933 under which the president of the Reichstag would be elected by the Reichstag.

When news of Hindenburg's death was received, Paul Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister, rushed to the Reichstag. He announced to the nation the death of the president.

Hitler thus assumed absolute power over the Third Reich.

FUNERAL PLANS

Berlin, Aug. 2. — The Hindenburg family to-night announced to a formal dinner that they had accepted the offer of President Paul von Hindenburg to the official honors of the German nation. The Reich will bury the president in the Tannenberg monument near Hohenstein, East Prussia, instead of the ancestral mansion at Neudeck, where Hindenburg himself wished to lie.

The body will be placed in one of the high towers which project out from a corner of the fortress-like building.

The first service will be at noon Monday in the Reichstag Building in Berlin, and the body will be taken to the funeral service at Tannenberg on Tuesday morning for the final service of interment.

President Hitler himself will deliver the formal funeral oration at the Tannenberg service.

His oration will follow that of an army chaplain, who is to speak only ten minutes.

AT TANNENBERG. — Austria's new emperor, Kurt Schuschnigg, to-night expressed the essential solidarity of all Germany, whether Austrian or German, by paying tribute to the late President von Hindenburg of Germany as the "dearest symbol of Germanism."

At his first press conference as president of Austria, he said: "The death of President von Hindenburg is a great loss to all Germany. Through all the events of recent days his name has remained for us a symbol of the German people, and as such was sacred. The aid we have rendered to Austria at the greatest of our needs."

It was thus that he linked mention of the dead President of Germany and the Austrian people, who are now united in the name of Emperor Schuschnigg.

Observers were inclined to interpret his remarks as a gesture of peace toward Germany.

Federal Terms Inquiry Is Now Asked By B.C.

Asking a commission to be appointed to investigate the Maritime Provinces, the delegation made the following claim:

(1) That B.C. has suffered, and is still suffering from many disabilities incident to the topography of the province, the Maritime Provinces, being largely restricted to the arable portions which are more or less located in widely separated narrow valleys surrounded by precipitous mountains, and which as a consequence impose heavier administrative costs than the other provinces of Canada.

(2) That in comparison with the other provinces equitable treatment has not been received in the matter of federal subsidies and expenditures.

(3) That the entrance of the federal government into the field of direct taxation has worked a great hardship on the people of British Columbia.

A royal commission to investigate subsidies paid to the Maritime Provinces was agreed to yesterday by Prime Minister Bennett after the Premier of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island had interviewed the cabinet. Following the conference this forenoon, Premier Pattullo said he was hopeful his request would be granted also.

STUBBORN ARGUMENT

It was submitted to the Dominion cabinet that subsidies paid to British Columbia were out of line with those paid to other provinces and should be increased. The subsidies arose out of Confederation and were designed originally to compensate the provinces for surrendering customs, excise and other sources of revenue. In the words of the British North America Act, they should be "ample to provide for administration of justice, support of education, grants to literary and scientific societies and such other matters as cannot be regarded as devolving on the central (Dominion) government, without recourse to direct taxation."

PROVINCES COMPARED

As evidence of inequality, it was submitted to-day that British Columbia, third ranking province in economic importance and volume of revenue contributed to the Dominion, has any province with the exception of Prince Edward Island, which has one-eighth of its population and 1 per cent of its area. It was claimed that British Columbia, having twice as much as British Columbia, Saskatchewan 70 per cent more; Alberta, 57 per cent more in thirty-four years; and Nova Scotia, 47 per cent more and New Brunswick, 46 per cent more.

4. That on the return to the province of the railway lands in the Peace River district, a commission was appointed, as in the case of three other provinces, to determine the measure of adjustment required to the province for being so long deprived of its lands.

HISTORY OF THE CASE REVIVED

Mr. Sloan's argument included a comprehensive survey of the history of the whole affair, starting from the time the province entered Confederation, the original terms, subsequent readjustments and settlements.

In these he stressed the following main points: British Columbia's representatives accepted the terms of union in 1871 on the fact that a railway would be built to the Pacific and they were willing to compromise on any other terms, and this despite the fact the railway would have gone through any way.

For the purpose of fixing per capita subsidies and an allowance for the difference in the per capita debt of the province and the rest of Canada, the population of the province was arbitrarily set at 60,000 people. On the basis of customs returns, British Columbia has claimed this figure should have been 120,000.

RIGHTS WERE RECOGNIZED

It was stated British Columbia's rights to better terms had been recognized by several later governments, including Sir Robert Borden's promise to appoint a commission in 1915, similar to the Dominion commission for the Maritime Provinces, but which never saw owing to intervention of the war. He laid special emphasis on questions made by members of the British House of Commons, including Sir Winston Churchill, to the effect that the revision of the British North America Act in 1907 was not a "final and unalterable settlement."

In arriving at an approximate figure for what British Columbia has lost through what it alleges are unfair terms, Mr. Sloan first analyzed the allowance granted for debt. The province was an amount of 8 per cent per annum on the difference between the actual debt at the time of union and what the debt would have been on the per capita basis as the province of Nova Scotia. Originally it came to $31,000 a year when based on the assumed population of 60,000. But British Columbia argued it should have been based on an assumed population of 120,000 and would therefore have been much greater.

Per capita subsidy of 80 cents a head was also granted to the province, but was also based on 60,000 people. The province has received in its debt allowance $1,000,000 since entering Confederation.

If it had been based on 120,000 people the province would have received $7,000,000.

In other words, the province would have got $5,000,000 more than it did on this account.

THE ALLOWANCE TOO LOW

The Attorney-General compared British Columbia's case with other provinces in Canada, particularly the western provinces. He showed how the debt allowance paid since Confederation was the lowest per capita of any province outside of Ontario and Quebec.

A further comparison with the other western provinces was drawn with respect to the per capita allowance. B.C.'s allowance is altered according to the decennial census and since it had grown in population, the allowance is always lagging behind the population growth. But in the other western provinces the adjustment is made every two and one-half years. If B.C.'s subsidy was calculated in this fashion, it would have received an additional $1,000,000 up to 1924, it was claimed.

NATIVE SONS DEBATE HISTORY

At Convention President
Urges More of Canadian
Story in Schools

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Aug. 2.—Election of officers and a clean-up of loose ends of discussion was the only business remaining on the agenda to-day as the Native Sons of Canada prepared to wind up their four-day annual convention. A luncheon this evening will bring the annual gathering to a close.

Appeal for a greater study of Canadian history was made by George R. Smith, national president, at a civic luncheon tendered the delegates yesterday evening. "Our greatest wealth lies in the men and women of our land," he said, "and it is their bounden duty to learn more about the history of their country."

A definite move was being made, Mr. Smith said, to have Canada's history and geography made major subjects in the curriculum. Canada's chronicle was rich in color, story and romance, he continued, as he recalled to his audience some of its outstanding incidents.

Relief matters predominated in yesterday's discussions as the convention adopted a resolution urging the Dominion Government to pursue a more generous policy toward districts unable to assume a greater share of unemployment relief costs.

The convention yesterday received the reply of Prime Minister Bennett to the organization's telegraphed protest against the new Dominion relief policy. The convention in its wire to Mr. Bennett, had urged the government change its attitude toward unemployment relief.

Mr. Bennett's telegram read: "Conditions necessitated placing provincial governments in position to exercise their constitutional functions with respect to relief. Federal contributions in aid are based upon experience of the past few years."

A resolution appealing to the government to have the words "Dominion of Canada" deleted from the present title of "Dominion of Canada" also was passed by the convention.

SOUTH DAKOTA'S LOSSES HEAVY

Wheat on Many Thousands of Acres of Land Killed
By Drought

Associated Press
Sioux Falls, S.D., Aug. 2.—Calamity has befallen South Dakota's broad acres.

Instead of fat cattle and bumper crops, the water famine has brought scanty herds and meagre yields approaching a crop famine in the state.

Estimates of agricultural experts showed to-day.

Already the federal government has sent $25,000,000 into South Dakota for drought relief since September, 1932. This sum is exclusive of corn, wheat and wheat benefits and cattle payments. Yet debts exist and mortgages are held on cattle and land.

G. J. Borum, agricultural statistician of the State College of Agriculture at Brookings, estimated winter wheat would run but 4.5 bushels to the acre. Forty-two thousand acres remain out of 296,000 acres which were planted.

Guards patrol water "holes" in the western part of the state. Drinking water is scarce miles to be sold in some sections.

RAIN-MAKER AT BRANTFORD

Man Builds Electrical Device
He Claims Can Draw
Moisture From Sky

Canadian Press
Brantford, Ont., Aug. 2.—Brantford has a rain-maker. He is Frank Clark, who says he has spent fifteen years completing a device that draws moisture from the heavens.

Clark declared he had his device for only four hours three days ago and "brought the storm." And a storm did come at that time. He said more rain could be expected.

But just a rain-maker is not only what the Brantford man has developed. He maintains it can also receive music—and next, television is the machine's forte. In fact it will also produce any kind of weather.

The rain-maker, resting in a closet at Mr. Clark's home, is a tangle of wires with a pecking box, an aerial and a mysterious box wrapped with insulated tape. Clark said one could control the weather of the continent.

CONSTRUCTION SHOWS GAINS

Figures For Canada Up 59.5
Per Cent For First Seven Months

Toronto, Aug. 2.—The Dominion Government's program of public works has not yet reached the "contract awarded" stage. A few minor jobs have been let to date but the large projects are still in the hands of architects and engineers for the tremendous amount of preliminary work which must be done before tenders are called.

Contracts awarded for the month of July throughout the Dominion, as compiled by MacLean Building Reports Ltd., amounted to $11,180,500. This figure, in view of the fact that no government contracts of any consequence are included, compares favorably with the June figure of $12,208,500. The total for seven months amounts to $72,107,300, compared with $45,563,900 for the corresponding period of 1933. This is an increase of 59.5 per cent.

Ontario accounted for $4,904,000 of the month's total; Quebec, $3,088,300. The other provinces had less than a million dollars each, but all are in excess of the June totals with the exception of Prince Edward Island.

Particularly was this true in the west, where construction is at last getting under way again. The loss for July was accounted for entirely by the drop in Ontario figures amounting to approximately three million dollars.

Contemplated work for July amounted to $21,160,100, bringing the year's total to date to $171,230,300, compared with $107,651,800 for 1933.

Construction contracts awarded in Canada during July, where the value of the work undertaken exceeded $50,000, were as follows: Toronto, Ont., hospital, $800,000; Moncton, N.B., high school, $461,300; Nanaimo, B.C., power development, $500,000; East Selkirk, Man., explosive plant, $225,000; Bridge River, B.C., telephone line, $200,000; Montreal, Que., school, $150,000; Quebec, Que., noviciate, $125,000; Toronto, Ont., addition to hospital, $100,000; Westmount, Que., trunk sewer, $90,000; Quebec, Que., collection sewer, $79,700; Regina, Sask., central heating plant, $75,000; Schumacher, Ont., school, $60,000; Montebello, Que., orphanage, $60,000; Bridge River district, B.C., power transmission line, $50,000; Kelowna, B.C., concrete bridge, $50,000; Amherstburg, Ont., plant, $50,000; East York Township, theatre, $50,000; St. Bruno, Que., rebuilding church, $50,000.

DETROITERS ARE LISTED FOR TRIAL

Twenty-eight Former Bank
Officials Indicted By Grand Jury

Associated Press
Detroit, Aug. 2.—Twenty-eight men—the list reading as if it might have been copied from a "Who's Who in Detroit Business and Finance"—to-day faced federal indictments charging misapplication of funds, conspiracy or the making of false entries in bank reports.

Twenty-two true bills were returned yesterday in the second report of the federal grand jury that two months ago began delving into the circumstances and banking practices which, the United States government contends, contributed to Michigan's banking debacle of 1933.

Twenty-five former officers, or directors of the Detroit Bankers' Company and its units are accused of misapplying $244,221.35 of bank funds through the purchase of inadequately-secured notes from other banks. The three others, former officers of the Guardian Detroit Union Group Inc., are accused of making or conspiring to make a false report of the condition of the Union Industrial Trust and Savings Bank, a Flint, Mich., unit, through the omission of $600,000 in bills payable.

Robert O. Lord, president of the Guardian Group, and E. D. Blair, president of the Detroit Bankers' Company, are among those indicted.

South Korea Floods Caused 300 Deaths

The striking clock makers issued a statement asking a 15 per cent increase in pay for those receiving $20 or more weekly and 30 per cent for those receiving less than $20 weekly. They also asked recognition of their shop committees and the right to organize.

Quebec Premier Says Ot-

Canadian Press
Quebec, Aug. 2.—Confusion in distribution of relief following the recent decision of the Dominion Government is foreseen by Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec.

Yesterday evening, following a cabinet meeting, the veteran Liberal Premier issued a statement putting forth the views of his administration on the decision of Prime Minister

Bennett to withdraw from the tripartite relief system in force for some years, substituting lump sum payments to the various provinces, based on their need.

Premier Taschereau concluded the statement with the following statement: "The Ottawa decision, I fear, is going to cause a great deal of confusion in the distribution of relief. The Dominion Government will probably reduce its allocations. The municipalities are at the end of their financial tether and the province cannot do everything alone. As a result of the conference and the attitude of Ottawa, the population may expect a decrease of relief."

Mr. Taschereau concluded published reports he had quit the conference in Ottawa due to dissatisfaction with the plan, and included in the statement a letter he had written Mr. Bennett Monday evening, following the first day of the conference, in which he stated he had only been able to remain in Ottawa a single day, and Mr. Bennett had previously informed him the conference was expected to last but one day.

Omar the Tentmaker knew...

OMAR certainly knew the value of publicity—wherever his poetry was quoted, people spoke of his tents. Probably they were good tents—they might have been the best procurable—it is also quite likely that people from far-off villages came to buy from him, but—it was eight hundred years before all the world knew of him and his famous pre-prohibition slogan, "A loaf of bread, a jug of—" (pardon us). Eight hundred years after he died, we are all convinced that Omar made tents—not only that, but we have heard so much about them we are convinced they must have been GOOD tents. Were they obtainable today we would probably buy one. However, poor Omar has been gone nearly nine centuries.

WOMAN TRAVELS 300,000 MILES

German Journalist in Canada in Course of Long Jant; Works Her Way

Montreal, Aug. 2.—Few women can boast of the variety of experiences that has fallen to the lot of Lily S. Krug during the past four years. Mrs. Krug, a German journalist and advertising writer, arrived in Montreal recently, having worked her way for more than 300,000 miles and visited most of the great cities of the world. After the death of her husband, Heinrich Werner Krug, well-known German cartoonist, she started on her travels with little but her courage, intelligence and personality to see her through. And she has managed somehow to keep going, though it has not always been easy.

Versatility, Mrs. Krug considers, is one of the essentials if one is to be successful. "If I had insisted on taking only journalistic work to do in the places I have visited," she said, "I should never have been able to get along. I have always taken what work I could get, whether it was the work I was accustomed to doing or not."

In addition to writing advertising copy for a steamship company in return for her passage to South America, and writing articles for papers in Buenos Ayres, Osaka and Bombay, Mrs. Krug has been a governess in Mexico and a "night-watchman" in a home for working girls in New York.

As her most horrible experience, Mrs. Krug told of the time when she was lost for a day and a half near the Great Wall of China. "It was the most terrible thing I have ever had," she said. "Everything was snow and ice and desert—not a hut, a person or a sign of life anywhere. At last I stumbled upon some tracks, and stayed in them, knowing they must lead somewhere. After a long time I was overtaken by a cargo train on its way to Peking and was given a lift, but by the time we reached the city the gates were closed for the night, and I had to sit outside all night."

In spite of some hardships, Mrs. Krug enjoyed her experiences, and was described by a local reporter who interviewed her as "a vivacious lady, as enthusiastic as a cub reporter on her first assignment."

City Temple Fete Is Held Indoors

Although the exigencies of the weather changed its character from a garden fete to an indoor party, the affair held under the auspices of the City Temple Ladies Auxiliary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Holt, McGregor Street, yesterday afternoon proved an enjoyable success.

Rev. Dr. W. J. Thompson the pastor, performed the opening ceremony. Mrs. G. Holt was the general convener of the affair.

Tea was served at individual tables, arranged with sweet peas and zinnias. Mrs. T. Clarke was in charge of the tea arrangements.

There were stalls of home cooking and candy, and many games. Pupils of the Italian School of Music and Dancing furnished the following programme: Umbrella dance, Elsie Robertson; Laura Parker and Lona Marie Atfield; dolly dance, Muriel Marshall; acrobatic dance, Laura Parker; and studio dance, Elsie Robertson. Pecker. Evelyn Holt was the accompanist. Lona Marie Atfield and Laura Parker.

PARIS SHOWS SLIT SKIRTS

Longer and Slimmer Fashion Decried; Feathers on Hats

Associated Press
Paris, Aug. 2. (By Adelaide Kerr)—Longer skirts are appearing in displays of winter fashions here. Although the largest dressmakers have not yet exhibited, the others have almost unanimously decreed that sports tailleur skirts must reach to eleven or twelve inches from the ground, eight to ten inches and afternoon frocks to six inches.

This is in keeping with the slender silhouette, with tubelike skirt, slit at the back, front, or sides, generally favored.

The greatest display of two-toned or multicolored tweeds in a harmonious blend of colors, which Paris ever has exhibited, is notable this season, indicating they will be all the rage this fall.

Crowd launched costumes of two types: The first being multicolored tweeds in which browns predominated, combining a slender skirt with a classic tailored jacket or a loose five-eighths length coat. They were worn with plaid blanket blouses, fur vests or bright sweaters sometimes topped with a hip length cape.

The second was reminiscent of the styles of 1900, and the models were designed to plump, dark green and grey wools. They had fitted thigh-length jackets and with them were worn white fingerie jabots, brocade vests and colorful velvet blouses.

The hats were dark felts turned up in back and down in front and trimmed with brilliant feathers.

Had Resided In Canada 102 Years

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Aug. 2.—Twelve days before celebrating her 102nd birthday, death had come to-day to Mrs. Sarah Ann Swears, resident of Canada since she was three weeks old.

Mrs. Swears was born in Lismore, Ireland, the daughter of Rev. Price Adams and Mrs. Adams. Her early life was spent in Toronto, but she moved west shortly after her marriage to Benjamin Swears, who predeceased her. She resided at several points in the west, but for many years lived in Winnipeg.

Mr. P. B. Scurrah, district governor of Rotary, left Vancouver Monday evening by the St. Prince Rupert for Ketchikan and other Alaska cities, where he will visit Rotary Clubs.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

PRE-NATAL DIET PLANNED FOR EXTRA DEMANDS

For each child the mother of a past era expected to sacrifice one or more teeth and handfuls of her hair. This expectation was in the bleak days before there was general recognition of the connection between diet and these hapless results. To avoid the same thing to-day the mother so plans her diet that her body is amply supplied with the proper food elements, and the baby need not undermine the structure of her teeth and the stability of her hair by a ruthless use of the mineral supplies of her own system.

SUPPLY OF MINERALS
The mother's diet during pregnancy is calculated to furnish a body with sufficient mineral-bearing foods so that the baby need not subtract them from her system. The necessity for generous supplies is obvious, for baby's whole first set of teeth is in the gums at birth and the materials for them must be supplied by the mother's diet.

To this end the prospective mother drinks milk with each of her meals, because milk is, of all foods, the most richly supplied with lime. She eats both cooked and raw green vegetables once or twice daily for their rich mineral supplies. She uses whole grain cereals, either as breakfast food or bread, because the outer coat and the inner germ of any of the grains contain the most abundant supply of minerals and vitamins. She eats some fresh fruit and some cooked fruit daily, preferably as a substitute for the richer and more digestible burdensome desserts, because fruits supply minerals.

COD LIVER OIL, TOO
In addition, she enables her body to make the best use of these minerals by doing herself conscientiously with cod liver oil or some of the other vitamin D preparations. Eggs, meat, fish, and chicken make up the total of necessary foods, for they supply the essential proteins without which the body would lack cell-building materials.

DONNA of the BIG TOP

by BEULAH POYNTER

The train wheels spun around and around, carrying her nearer to the climax of the drama.

Bill met her at the depot. He had become an austere, grim-faced stranger who took her luggage without a word of greeting and then walked briskly to the little car, permitting her to get in without assistance.

His silence, his rigid lips and uncomprehending attitude gave Donna no hint of starting her confession. Twice during the ride over the snow-cake road she tried to tell him how grateful she was because he had sent for her, but the words stuck in her throat.

She managed at last to say, "Of course Grandfather is buried."

"Yes,"

Miss Perkins had gone and the door that led into the room where Grandfather had lain for so many weeks was closed. Everything else seemed the same. Minnie rushed to meet Donna with open arms and burst into tears as she kissed her again and again.

"You shouldn't have went, Mr. Sidal. You shouldn't have went! My lands, but I'm glad you're back! Bill's gruff. 'That will do, Minnie,' said the girl back to the kitchen. When the husband and wife were alone in the little sitting-room Bill said, 'Sit down. There's an explanation I want from you.'"

"You know," Donna choked, "that I wasn't married to Con David—over!"

"Yes, I know that. I also know that, in spite of the fact that everything points to it, you didn't run away with him. First, let me tell you that Grandfather left the farm and all the money he possessed to me."

"Oh, I'm glad," Donna cried.

"I'm so glad!"

"Doesn't it strike you as curious that he should do that?"

"I don't know. But if he hadn't died so soon, I was going to insist that he must change his will. If the farm is yours—why did you ask me to come back? I hoped it might be because you loved me but I know it isn't. You act as if you hate me."

"No, I'm waiting to hear the truth. I'm willing to accept any explanation if you can give me one, Madeline. Or should I call you Donna?"

She drew back. "You—you know?"

"I know part of it. Here, read this!" From his pocket he drew a folded sheet of paper and handed it to her. The handwriting ran obliquely, was uncertain and at times difficult to read.

"They Bill," Donna made out. "As we forgive our debtors so are we forgiven. When you read this, my boy, I shall be gone and you will be suffering a double pain, but if I can understand the motive that prompted the deception and take into my heart and home the deceiver how much easier it should be for you who have made her your wife!"

would be helpless and ill for a long time. At first I didn't understand—and then I was so happy here, and she wanted me to stay. Oh, so many times I wanted to tell you the truth but I was afraid! I thought you would turn against me, and you had grown to mean so much to me. And if you had told Grandfather it would have been such a shock! All the time he knew—"

Bill did not answer, but stood staring at the carpet.

"Madeline loved Con," Donna went on. "He had wanted to marry me—but after I left he married her. She didn't want me back in the circus. And then—you asked me to marry you. I meant to tell you the truth, before God I meant to tell you! But Grandfather had that stroke—and oh, Bill, be generous! Say you understand. He did. Can't you?"

"I didn't mean to do anything wrong. I was just that I was so afraid of losing you! I thought you would be hard—like you are now. Bill, if you send me away I can't live! There isn't anything in life for me but you. There never has been since the time I first met you—"

She broke into bitter sobs.

He took her hands and pulled her to her feet. "Why did David come back here?" he demanded.

"He—he knew Grandfather wasn't well. He wanted to get the property that would have been Madeline's. I hate him! You believe that, don't you?"

His arms folded her close. "Darling," he whispered, "if you had only trusted me what a lot of suffering we both would have spared!"

"You won't send me away?"

"The next time you try to leave me I'll drag you back by the hair of your head," he laughed. But there was a sob in the laugh.

"Supper!" Minnie announced from the doorway. Then, "Oh—excuse me!" She saw Bill and Madeline in an embrace that not even her presence interrupted.

OPINIONS SURPRISE JUGOSLAVIANS

Canadian Press from Havas
Belgrade, Aug. 2.—Political circles expressed amazement yesterday Jugoslavians' self-styled "correct" attitude in relation to the Serbian situation had been so critically received abroad.

In its official communiqué, issued through its Berlin legation, Jugoslavians announced it would maintain a "correct" attitude in the whole matter, and at the same time offered strenuous objection to the Italian concentration of troops on the Austrian border.

The general opinion here was that in demanding a peaceful solution of the situation, with intervention by the League of Nations, Jugoslavians had acted in accordance with all rules of "correct" international conduct.

Pursuing the status of Austria, guaranteed and clearly established by the peace treaty, was added as further reason for the Jugoslavians' stand.

POPE IS NOW AT SUMMER HOME

Associated Press, Aug. 2.—The reverential salute of hundreds of peasants greeted Pope Pius XI as he arrived yesterday evening at this quaint village, perched on the side of the Alban Hills, to take up residence for the summer in the beautiful villa here.

Without ceremony or fanfare, His Holiness shortly before sunset motored miles away. To-night was the first night since his secondary to the papal throne that he did not sleep in the Vatican.

Uncle Wiggily's Strong Lobster

By HOWARD R. GARRS

One day Jingle and Jangle, two of Uncle Wiggily's older rabbit girls, were hopping along on the sandy ocean beach when they saw a number of round, brown things rolling in on the foamy waves.

"What are those?" asked Jangle.

"They look like baby footbolls," said Jangle.

"Let's get some," said Jangle.

"Oh, don't play football, even with baby ones," objected Jangle.

"Oh, where did the coconuts come from?" asked Jangle.

"But when they were born, they were brought up here where we are," said Jangle.

"There must be a coconut tree out in the ocean," said Jangle as she and her sister gathered a basket of the hard brown nuts which were about as large as twenty-five horse chestnuts put together.

TELL THEIR BROTHERS

"I guess so," agreed Jangle. "Let's run and tell the boys and they can come here and get a lot of the nuts."

"So the two bunny girls, after having put the coconuts high enough up on the beach so the rising tide would not wash them away, ran until they saw a crowd of their brothers playing rubber ball on the beach."

"Come and see what we found!" called Jangle.

"You didn't find anything. You can't find a nut," said Buster.

"Oh, we did find something!" answered Jangle. "Didn't we, Jangle?"

"Of course we did—coconuts," said the other sister.

"No! No! No!" laughed Buster. "Coconuts don't grow around here. Coconuts only grow in warm tropical countries."

"Well, you came and see!" invited Jangle.

"Don't bother with the girls, fellows," said Buster. "They're just trying to trick you."

"Oh, it is!" cried Jangle and Jangle. "And such a party as there was! Now the bunny boys and girls know. They were. And they were in much in earnest."

LOSTER HELPS

The animal boys tried throwing stones at the coconuts and then tried throwing coconuts at stones. They made some little cracks in the shells, but not large enough to get out the white meat. Uncle Wiggily tried to crack the shells, but he couldn't either. There might have been no coconuts most to eat except for the strong lobster.

Suddenly a kind lobster, with great big claws, came up out of the ocean. He crawled along the beach and politely said: "I will crack the coconuts for you. He pinched two nuts, one in his big claw and one in his small claw and—prater!—the nuts were open ready to eat. And such a party as there was! Now the bunny boys and girls know. They were. And they were in much in earnest."

Ottawa Officials Say Washington Report on Reciprocity Bars Is Unofficial

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 2.—Dominion Government officials do not believe the report which came from Washington on Tuesday respecting the attitude of the United States to possibilities of a reciprocal trade treaty with Canada, gives a correct picture of the situation so far as the Dominion is concerned.

The dispatch stated Canada was one of the potentially good customers removed from the list of those countries with which the United States might enter into immediate trade negotiations. The reason given was that Canada would not have to compose political differences on the question of reciprocity, and that economic barriers also constituted a barrier.

into a general. No question of political difficulties was raised in the picture, it was declared here by high authorities. Obviously, it was stated, the government of Canada acts for the Dominion, just as the government of the United States acts for that country.

OT OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

The dispatch was clearly not an official statement, it was declared, as the view of the United States government was given officially by the State Department in February last. In the following communique was said that the above was the view of Commons here by Prime Minister Bennett.

minister of finance. The United States and Canada is larger in normal times than that between any other countries in the world, and it is natural that both countries should desire to have a freer flow of goods and services to normal proportions. We hope to be in a position at an early date to take steps looking to the completion of a free trade agreement which will further the interests of both countries. We hope first to take into practical application the long neighbor policy between these two countries which have so much in common."

So far as the Dominion Government is aware that statement still holds the attitude of the United States Government.

It was arranged to hold lectures on the subject of growing plants and tubers by specialists in horticulture. It was also to become affiliated with Vancouver Island Horticultural society.

The committee was formed as follows: D. Taylor, hon. secretary; Major Edith-Jones, C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, P. F. P. Patterson, Mrs. J. D. B. Macdonald, J. E. Macdonald, W. W. Dunsford and J. Bell.

PLANT SIGN IS PUT IN SERVICE

Canadian Press
Hawthorn, Aug. 2.—Moving a switch around the room, Prime Minister Bennett illuminated a giant sign placed on the Grand stand, advertising the excellence of admiral products. Mr. Bennett's act of dedication was, at the same time, a demonstration of the London line in electric letters.

The sign, a part of the advertising campaign for the new Canadian quality, was designed by Mr. H. G. Howard Ferguson, acting High Commissioner to London. It was a great success, superior to anything a so-called
"new Canadian quality" recently registered in the London office of the Department of Trade for the words, "Canada—The Man-leader," and in the next line,
"The Quality."

The bottom of the sign shows a running line of electric letters in the shape of a message of variable length.

SCORE LISTED FOR TRIAL IN DETROIT

Associated Press
Detroit, Aug. 2.—The federal grand jury, which for two months has been investigating circumstances that preceded Michigan's financial debacle of 1933, returned true bills yesterday naming twenty-eight men, including some of Detroit's most prominent business men who were bank directors or officers during the frenzied speculation years.

It was the second wholesale return of indictments within little more than a month. On June 29, thirteen bankers and former bankers were indicted on charges of making or conspiring to make false reports of bank condition.

Half a dozen of those indicted yesterday also were named in the true bills previously returned.

Girl Drowned In Burrard Inlet

Vancouver, Aug. 2.—A happy family pleasure cruise was dimmed by tragedy yesterday evening when little Mary McConnell, ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McConnell of Vancouver left overboard and was drowned while returning on a trip up Burrard Inlet. Mary, standing near the stern of the launch Audreemold, tumbled backwards into the waters of the inlet when the craft was about 300 rods east of the Second Narrows ridge.

The boat was turned about at once and the waters searched for several hours without success.

You Can Do It BETTER With Gas"

It's Cleaner

We are pleased to announce our
SPECIAL GAS FURNACE OFFER

HOW WILL you heat your home this winter?
The answer, of course, rests with you. But before making your final decision, by all means investigate the advantages of gas fuel.

Our Offer: 10% Cash 5 Years to Pay

IF YOUR home is within the gas main areas—City, Oak Bay, Seanch or Esquimalt—and already piped for furnace heating, we will install a fully guaranteed, thermostat-controlled gas furnace for a down payment of only 10% of the total cost, and allow you up to 5 years to pay the balance.

THE TOTAL cost of such a furnace varies, depending upon the size of the furnace required. The furnaces we recommend and sell are made in British Columbia. They are of the best possible materials and workmanship. All joints are heavily welded—no seams to work loose. They are guaranteed to give years of satisfactory service.

Why Should I Heat My Home With Gas?

THE ANSWER is: Because, by every test, gas is the IDEAL fuel. Up to a certain point automatic coal, oil and gas fuels parallel one another very closely. But coal falls short at the fuel bin—the delivery, storage, handling, soot, grime and ash removal. Oil fuel leaps most of these hurdles but falls short at delivery and fails entirely at storage. Gas fuel triumphs over all these obstacles—no delivery prob-

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I read your saying that a mother is ten times as much a mother as a father is a father. There are plenty of men who are just as devoted to their children as their mothers are and who make just as many sacrifices for them.

Answer—I accept the reproach. Perhaps I should have said that there are ten times as many women who are mothers as there are men who are fathers. For, while there are thousands of men who have the parental complex just as highly developed as any woman has the maternal, you must admit that the great majority of men are very negligent fathers and even to think that full duty is done to their children when they support them.

They turn them over to their mothers to be reared and never even take the trouble to get acquainted with them. Leave an average girl and boy alone with their father together and they cannot carry on a conversation. The children don't even know him well enough to ask a favor of him. It is to their mother they go with their plans and desires and she acts as an intermediary between them.

Which I think is a tragic situation because, after all, the father has given his life to his children in a very real way. He is the goat that has been sacrificed on the family altar. He has spent his life slaving to keep them soft and warm, to give them a comfortable home, to send them to college, to give them the best of education, to give them the best of health, to give them the best of character, to give them the best of everything. He has stayed at home through hot summers that they might enjoy the cool of the mountains or the sea. He has done without the vacations that he longed for and needed that they might go to camp and have trips and develop themselves in resort hotels.

The only possible pay that a father can get for all that he does himself for the sake of his children, for all the labor he does for them in their love and tenderness and appreciation, and only too often he fails to receive this because he has been too busy and too absorbed in providing for their material wants to take time to win their hearts and their confidence. He is a stranger to them. The man who feeds and clothes them, who takes care of them as a matter of course and without gratitude, and who gives them the things that motherhood would not give them, but that is all.

They are afraid of him. They are constrained with him. They don't know what he thinks about anything and it would surprise them to death to know that he loved them even more passionately than Mother does, and that he desired nothing on earth so much as to be paid with them.

It is, of course, the father's fault that there is this gulf between him and his children. Very often the wife has dug it either intentionally or unintentionally in her selfish desire to monopolize the children and be first with them. From their earliest days she has held Father up as a bugaboo to them, someone who would pounce upon them for childish misdeeds that they had already forgotten. "I'll tell your father on you and how naughty you have been." "Your father will beat you for this when he comes home." Until the trembling little sinner came to look upon Father as a god of wrath and to be regarded only with terror. And it was Mother who always propitiated Father in their behalf until it became a fixed idea with the children that it was only Mother who loved them.

And that is what fathers have got for passing the buck to Mother in rearing the children. And perhaps they deserve their punishment, but it has broken many a man's heart. You can get intimate with children after they are grown. You have to do it when they are little.

It is customary to idealize mothers and talk about what they suffer for their children and the sacrifices they make for them, and any tribute that we can pay them is no more than their due. But anything less we can pay about the devotion and self-sacrifice of mothers goes just as well for fathers. They give as much as mothers do and get less reward. Which is a pity.

Somebody has said that once a year is Mother's Day, but every day is Father's Day when he pays the bills.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a girl who belongs to the middle class. I have an average education and am employed as a stenographer. I have had very little social experience. I have been virtually no traveling and can count on one hand the times I have really "gone places." I am going to marry a well-to-do, famous man who speaks several languages, has traveled extensively and who is feted wherever he goes. We have much in common and he is not a snob and would treat me for worrying over such a trifling matter as my social position. I may be awkward and out of place in the circles into which he will take me. But I do feel that way and I don't want him to be ashamed of me.

Now I have a whole year in which to prepare myself for my new life. Is there any way I can do it?

MARY.

Answer—You are quite right and show good, hard horse sense in wishing to prepare yourself beforehand for the new world you are about to enter, for thereby you will save yourself many a tear and headache. The women you meet will judge you by your clothes and your mental aplomb, and upon your knowing what to wear, how to enter a room, what to say to a stranger will depend whether they turn thumbs down on you, or welcome you into their fold.

And while your husband may think that your being good and sweet is enough passport to society, it isn't. People may learn to like you for your good qualities later on, but at first it is more important that you know how to dance, how to entertain a dinner companion, how to order a meal, even how to drink a cocktail and all the other million things that go under the head of social graces.

And don't believe that it will not affect your husband's love for you to be ashamed of you. It will, and it will hurt his chances of advancement. For a wife can be a terrible handicap to an ambitious man.

I knew one woman, situated as you are, whose fiancé had the good sense to perceive that, while he knew the girl was a jewel, other people might not see that she was a diamond in the rough, so he proceeded to have her polished. He employed an experienced woman to teach her the ways of the world for a year and to teach her all the things she needed to know. She corrected the girl's pronunciation, her tone of voice, her provincialisms. She taught her how to meet people, how to be cordial without being fawning, how to eat, how to give a dinner party, a tea. How to walk, how to sit, how to stand. She taught her how to dress, how to have her hair arranged, how to make the best of herself in every way. And she turned her out a brilliant woman of the world of whom her husband is justly proud.

You may not be able to do this entirely, but my suggestion is that you go to the most elegant woman you know and ask her to take you as a pupil.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am engaged to a boy with no prospect of marriage for a long time. He works in another town and I see him only once every few months. Is there any harm in having dates with other boys, or should I sit home and never go anywhere just because I am engaged?

UNDECIDED.

Answer—Have dates with other boys. Love that is subjected to such a strain as yours is very likely to wear out, and the chances are that both you and the boy will grow weary of each other during the long wait. Then you will be left flat if you have given up all the other boys for him. Besides, it is a long and dreary process sitting up twiddling your thumbs with nothing to do and nowhere to go and no fun during a long engagement. I think it is silly to deprive yourself of all pleasure.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 1934

According to astrology this is not a favorable day for important decisions. It is a time to guard against wrong decisions and unwise initiative.

Much that is confusing and perplexing is indicated in the stars, which promise sudden and unexpected changes in social and political conditions.

Money may present high hopes as well as some disappointment at this time, when the year's harvest is being gathered.

Persons will have numerous chances for finding fault with others and with federal laws at this time, although the stars promise better prices for produce.

Accidents will be many under this configuration, resulting from falling from the use of firearms and from drownings.

At the beginning of the year it was predicted that someone would end promnent lives. Government officials should be cautious.

Girls may find this a disappointing day in all affairs of the heart. Suicides may be committed.

It is not an auspicious day for theatre or plant or animal husbandry. The autumn is to bring many revivals of famous plays aptly may be videotaped at present.

Persons whose birthday is in the month of August will find this day probably will be of more than average intelligence, but they may be inclined to overestimate their own ability.

Stanley Robinson, British statesman, was born on this day, 1867. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Hamilton Fish, American statesman.

YOU'VE HEARD OF THE HORSE MARINES? WELL—

Presenting an uprising in Banquillo, Chile, who thought they would frustrate the strategy of government troops by destroying all river craft on the Alto Rio Rio, did not reckon on the hastily constructed ferries the caribbeens would build to pursue them. Here a mounted cavalierman is seen being rowed to the rebel shore by a one-man-powered raft.

French See Europe's Fate Up To Britain

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(Copyright, 1934)

PARIS
GERMANY'S brusque gesture confronting Europe with a rearmament programme without limit save that imposed by her own will, and her pocketbook, brought the Old World to another crossroads.

"Germany," said M. Franklin-Bouillon, member of Parliament and former president of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber, "is preparing for war. She is rearming and nothing can prevent her from rearming."

"This means that Europe is headed straight toward another conflict."

"But while nothing can prevent Germany rearming, something can be done to head off war. Germany's neighbors must make it plain to her that she cannot win."

"To do this, two things are vital. One of these is political unity within France. Second, unity between France and Great Britain and between France and her allies."

LONE WOLF OF FRANCE

THE STATEMENT of Franklin-Bouillon is of importance because of the position he occupies in France. In many respects he is a sort of lone wolf.

Franklin-Bouillon has been included in more than one cabinet. But he has steadfastly refused to take the job. He loves his freedom. Thus to-day we find him way over on the right, fighting tooth and nail for the government of National Union, or all-party cabinet, headed by Premier Doumergue.

"Much depends upon the National Union government remaining in power," he said to the writer. "If it should fall, chaos would result, politically and economically.

"Germany would take it as the signal that she could carry out her designs, whatever they may be."

HITLER IS "BEST FRIEND" BUT THE present government of France is not going to fall. Adolf Hitler will see to that. He is our best friend, just now. He shows us very clearly where our danger lies.

"For years Germany has been carefully preparing. Her diplomats and statesmen, however, carefully concealed her designs. And France was fooled.

M. Franklin-Bouillon, French statesman, sees new war threat in Europe.

"Hitler has torn off the mask. Not only France, but Europe and the world, can plainly see what the Nazis are driving at."

In common with the Quai d'Orsay and practically every statesman with whom I talked in France, Franklin-Bouillon sees Great Britain primarily as holding the key to peace or war in Europe.

"Europe has reached another fearful crisis," an internationally known French statesman told me, "and Great Britain once more, as in 1913 and 1914, has it in her power to point the way to peace."

PEACE UP TO BRITAIN

AT THE time of the Agadir crisis, in 1912, when the Kaiser sent the gunboat Panther to Morocco, Great Britain prevented war by promptly letting Germany know she would be on France's side if war came.

"In 1914 the World War might have been prevented had Britain taken a similar stand in time. But her decision came too late. Hostilities had begun before she spoke."

"To-day Britain faces a similar situation. Germany is rearming. If she

T. BLACKLOCK OF OTTAWA DIES

Well-known Political Writer of Conservative School Passes Away

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—A sense of personal loss permeated Canadian newspaper offices to-day with the announcement of the death at the age of sixty-one of Thomas H. Blacklock, a political writer known from one end of Canada to the other. Mr. Blacklock, who had been in failing health for some time, was taken yesterday evening to the Ottawa Civic Hospital. He died at 12:30 p.m. to-day.

A keen observer of statesmen and politics, a pungent commentator and a corner of sparkling epigrams, Tom Blacklock was a correspondent of the old school. Firmly and aggressively Conservative, he was nevertheless blessed with a sense of proportion which enabled him to uncover virtues in his opponents. Above and beyond his knowledge of politics, Tom Blacklock knew Canada.

He was born at Campbellville, Halton County, Ont., in 1873. His parents were farmers, descendants of old Scottish stock, a circumstance of which he was proud. He began his newspaper career on The Quelpin Mercury.

Proceeding to western Canada, Mr. Blacklock settled at Weyburn, Saskatchewan, where he conducted a weekly newspaper. He was the first mayor of that town. Later he resided for some time in Regina, where he became editor of The Regina Province. Mr. Blacklock returned to eastern Canada in 1913 as representative in the press gallery of the old Winnipeg Telegram. Since then he had been one of the outstanding figures in Canadian political journalism.

Poison Mixture For Control of Cutworm

Young seedlings in gardens are frequently destroyed by cutworms which eat through the stem, just at the surface of the soil, says Isabelle Preston in the Dominion Department of Agriculture bulletin on annual flowers. A good poisoned bran mixture for their control is made as follows: Mix thoroughly one-half pound Paris green with twenty pounds of bran, white both are dry. Dissolve one quart of molasses in two gallons or more of water, then pour this into the poisoned bran and stir until all the bran is moistened thoroughly. In smaller quantities, use one quart of bran, one teaspoonful of Paris green, and one tablespoonful of molasses, with enough water to moisten the poisoned bran. Spread on the surface of the ground near the plants as soon as they are set out. The cutworms come out at night, eat the poisoned bran, and are killed.

Vitamin A in Herbs

Agricultural research has demonstrated that young herbage, besides being a rich storehouse of protein, sugar, starches and essential minerals, contains carotene which in the body of an animal produces vitamin A. This vitamin promotes growth in farm stock as well as in human beings and enables them to resist disease.

WARD AGAINST DIABETES
IF IT SHOWS IN FAMILY

Investigators Have Found "Sugar Disease" Can Be Inherited; Frequent Examinations Needed to Prevent It.

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

You are likely to have diabetes if any member of your family has had it. In other words, you inherit some defect of structure, perhaps related to the pancreas or some other glands. If your family, therefore, has had a history of diabetes, you should be particularly on your guard against various constitutional factors related to this disease. You should have regular examinations of the excretions of the bladder at least once every six months, to detect the presence of sugar at the earliest possible moment, and to provide for suitable diet and other medical control when sugar is found.

The occurrence of diabetes in twins has been observed frequently by physicians. In practically all of these cases, the twins were what is called similar, instead of dissimilar, twins. In a Boston clinic, twenty-six of 33 patients with diabetes were found to have twins—thirteen similar and thirteen dissimilar. Among nine of the thirteen sets of similar twins, both were diabetic, whereas only two of the thirteen sets of dissimilar twins were both diabetic.

This is, of course, about what could have been expected, since it is known that similar twins tend to develop physical disturbances of the same type. As evidence of the extent to which diabetes is inherited, the condition has been found to occur ten times more often in the brothers and sisters of diabetic patients than in people generally. Moreover, it is found that many of the blood relatives of patients with diabetes develop the presence of sugar in the excretions without actually having diabetes itself.

Investigators are convinced that there exists a potentiality or likelihood for developing diabetes which is transmitted in human beings according to the laws of heredity. There are often physical factors involved as well as constitutional factors.

The presence of overweight, the eating of vast amounts of carbohydrate food, which throws special stress on the organs involved in digestion and in the handling of sugar by the body, the existence of nerve strain and stress may throw pressure on weakened organs and tissues which will produce the disease much more certainly when the likelihood exists than when it is absent.

Bull Experiments Of Local Pathologists

The hot water treatment for the destruction of parasitic nephritides in nephrotic bull has been of inestimable value to Canadian horticulturists, yet the experiments of Dr. William Huxton and R. J. Hastings of the Dominion laboratory of plant pathology at Vancouver, B.C., and those of others, show that the treatment frequently fails to destroy all the nephritides, particularly when the bull is treated after the long summer period. The data from Vancouver suggest that the ineffectiveness of the standard hot water treatment when applied late in the season is due to the fact that the major development of the pre-adult nematode takes place after the bull is treated, and also because the masses of dormant pre-adults are often well isolated from the moisture of the bath by the bull scales and corky basal plates. Also they are more resistant to heat in a dry, compressed state than after the long summer period. Pathologists recommend that the hot water treatment be employed not later than four weeks after lifting when the lifting is done as soon as the foliage dies down. A pre-soak is suggested as a possible means of increasing the effectiveness of the standard hot water treatment.

Attitude of Nationals
To Dairy Products

The nutritive and health-promoting value of milk and other dairy products in an economical diet for the people of Canada is concerned, thanks in a modest way to the activities of the milk utilization service of the Dominion Dairy Branch, but it has been left to the United States authorities to probe the attitude of Canadians to dairy product consumption. In a survey of the consumption of dairy products, in terms of whole-milk equivalent, in seven metropolitan cities of New Jersey it was found that negroes and Italians consumed relatively small per capita quantities of dairy products, being 1.8 and 1.56 pounds per day respectively, as compared with 4.07 pounds for native white. 3.75 pounds for Irish, and 3.23 pounds for German families. Italian families consumed more of cheese, but relatively small consumers of milk and butter. Negroes preferred buttermilk to sweet milk. Jews were heavy consumers of bottled milk, but such consumption curtailed the use of other dairy products. Poles were fond of sour cream.

Prevention of Damage
To Clothes By Moths

The prevention of damage by clothes moths requires the exercise of care, forethought, and vigilance. Articles of clothing and other materials subject to attack should not be left undisturbed for long periods, particularly during the summer months, in such places as cupboards, attics, trunks, etc., unless adequate precautions have been taken to protect them from moth injury. Such articles, after having been thoroughly brushed and beaten, preferably in strong sunlight, should be placed in well-made trunks or chests with tightly fitting lids, or enclosed in cotton or paper bags or in cardboard boxes sealed with paper strips. Wrapping clothing in two thicknesses of strong wrapping paper, taking care that the edges are turned so that no moths may gain entrance is also recommended as an alternative measure. One pound of naphthalene flakes or a similar quantity of paradichlorobenzene scattered among the garments in an ordinary sized trunk assures perfect protection from moth injury. When using moth-bags, several ounces of either the above chemicals may be enclosed in each bag as an additional protection.

"No Overproduction Of Food In World"

"Now, I dissent fundamentally and wholly from the idea that there is overproduction of food stuffs in the world. From the very broad general point of view I am all too conscious, in my own country and European countries, that there are people short of food; and, therefore, to talk of overproduction of food is something fundamentally wrong. We are not going to meet the great evil that the world is suffering from by shortening still further the supplies of these fundamental articles. One could say, indeed, thinking of wheat, that when great supplies fall upon the market in 1929, had that flood, as it were, been allowed to diffuse itself evenly over the world population, it would have been simply one of those over-abundant floods with which we are familiar. Demanded as it was by tariffs and restrictions of one kind and another into a narrow channel, it became a devastating flood in the way it bore down prices."—Sir A. Daniel Hall at the League Conference.

THE SCREEN

COMEDY STARS
AT PLAYHOUSE

Zasu Pitts, El Brendel, S. Gallagher and Ann Harding

Zasu Pitts, Port Mellon, El Brendel, James Gleason and S. Gallagher in RKO-Radio Pictures' new comedy-drama, "The Meanest Gal in Town," are now at the Playhouse Theatre. Laughs have to be spread with care because audience laughter sometimes drowns out dialogue. On the stage, comedians merely wait until a laugh is over. On the screen, there is no way of adapting the timing to the audience and its mood.

If the director allows too much space after a laugh, the laugh stops and there is a dull period. If he allows too little, the laugh drowns out the beginning of subsequent dialogue lines.

Being shown as a second feature is Ann Harding in "The Night to Romance."

Will Rogers To Appear Friday

Will Rogers keeps the laughs rolling right along in his latest picture, "Handy Andy," which will open Friday at the Dominion Theatre. Without doubt, it's his funniest picture. Dialogue and situations combine to maintain a steadily mounting crescendo of mirth and a whirlwind of laughs.

Rogers portrays a druggist who wants to work in peace. But his wife, expertly played by Peggy Wood, nags him to sell out and learn to play.

EMPIRE THEATRE

The Casanova Revue, presented all this week on the Empire Theatre stage, is acclaimed as one of the most outstanding attractions of its kind that has played in Victoria this season. Giants Cut Loose With Power At Bat

World Baseball Champions, Led By Mel Ott With Two Home Runs, Take Two Games From Boston To Bolster Lead in National; Detroit in American Lead Once More

New York Giants, who were accused of being "hitters" because of winning the world championship with nothing but the strong arms of four pitchers, and even of talking their way to the title last season, have furnished a reply with their bats this season.

Mel Ott, young leader of the batting brigade, slammed his twenty-third and twenty-fourth homers yesterday to tighten his grip on the National League lead and to help him strengthen his position at the top of the standing with a double over the Boston Braves, 11 to 10.

The double triumph increased New York's lead to four full games as the first-place St. Louis Cardinals, with all their power, failed to get a second-place Chicago Cubs, 4 to 3.

The younger Duggan pitched five-hit ball to beat Jim Weaver. The almost daily exchange of first place between the Yankees and Detroit was kept on schedule as Detroit walked Cleveland Indians, 10 to 7, in a free swinging contest.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who were the starting force, with former Yankees pitcher, turned over the New York club, 7 to 4.

There is the second division most the excitement came from the Cincinnati Reds, who spotted Pittsburgh Pirates a lead in the league, when they beat the Washington Senators, 11 to 7, in a free swinging contest.

The Phillies with eleven well-aimed hits off Phil Collins, won the game, 10 to 6, and 4 to 3, to lead the league into sixth place.

ENGLISH DAVIS CUP PLAYERS PRAISED BY U.S. NET STARS

England's Davis Cup tennis players, shown above, who retained the coveted Davis Cup in the series against the United States stars at Wimbledon last week, have received great praise from the American cup representatives. The Americans declare it will be several years before any nation will have a chance to wrest the trophy away from England. These in the above picture, left to right, follow: H. W. (Bunny) Austin, second ranking English player; Perry and Patsy Hughes, English doubles combination, although B. G. N. Lee was substituted for Perry in the series against United States, and Fred Perry, generally acclaimed the world's first ranking player.

London, Aug. 2.—Take it from the United States Davis Cup team, which sails for home Saturday empty handed, the chances of any nation taking the international tennis trophy away from England in the next few years are very slim. A poll of Sidney B. Wood, Frank K. Shields, George M. Lott, and Lester Stouffer, the United States quartet which played grand tennis but could win only one match against the British in the challenge round, failed to reveal even the glimmer of a hope that the present United States crop of players can turn the trick. The problem stemmed down to one question: "How are you going to beat that fellow Fred Perry?"

Shields interjected the remark that "he'd like to see the man who can beat Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin when he's playing for that cup."

Matters were not made any more cheerful when Lott, the "rock of Gibraltar" of the last three teams, said he was through with cup play. But in the next breath he said he might be back.

"Maybe I'll go into training for both singles and doubles," he said. "I have a hunch I can at least beat Austin. (Something no other American cup player has been able to do in the last three years of cup competition.)"

Expect New Marks At Empire Games

British Critics Forecast Several Records Will Fall at Monster Sports Opening Saturday at London; Canadian Athletes Ready

Thumbs Down On Open Net Events

London, Aug. 2.—The International Tennis Federation has decisively turned down a suggestion for open tournaments for amateurs and professionals. The decision was made yesterday.

The only weight-throwing event of opening day is the discus. Bob Waters, Vancouver, is Canada's chief entrant; but, Sutherland and George Walla are likely to support his bid.

The swimmers, under Alex Duff, Toronto, have been training in the Wembley Pool every morning and afternoon since their arrival in England.

Canadian divers have impressed spectators as being likely point-winners. Divers and wrestlers have worked as hard as the rest. They take an early morning run in Hyde Park before starting training at the Reg. 1 Polytechnic Gymnasium. The gymnasts climb ropes, throw medicine balls and wrestle each other.

Coach Frank Saxon said every man in his charge is nearing top condition. Dennis White, boxer of the boxers, has varied the training schedule with skipping, shadow boxing and real boxing. Ten-thirty has been the time deadline in the camp of the ringsters.

Percy Williams' 100-yard dash record of 9.8 seconds is unlikely to be broken.

PIZZELL MEET REST A doctor told Mildred Pizzell, Toronto sprinter, to-day she must rest two days, and even then it was doubtful if she would be able to start in the 100-yard dash on the opening day.

If she does run on Saturday, she certainly will be unable to produce her best form, said the doctor who diagnosed Mildred's injury, received yesterday in training, as a torn muscle above the thigh bone.

If Mildred does not go to the mark Saturday it was believed her place would be taken by either Hilda Striker, Montreal, or Mary Friswell, Vancouver. Yesterday the Canadian team continued training. Every athlete put on a good day's work and neared the time edge they will need for the international contests.

Hilda Striker and Mildred Friswell, who are broad jumpers for the purpose of these games, unless Miss Friswell is unable to start, practice in the jumping pits, then worked out with the sprinters. Despite the fact she was put on the team at the last minute after failing to make the sprint squad, Miss Friswell is regarded as Canada's best broad jumper.

In practice she was outdistanced by both the other nominees, Margaret Fitzpatrick, Calgary, and Evelyn Goodwin, Winnipeg. Miss Striker also has shown herself to be a capable jumper.

COACH ALEX WILSON, of the men's track division, reported every man in his charge in good condition, paying particular attention to the athletes who are billed to perform Saturday.

These include the sprinters, B. J. Christie, Toronto; Bert Pearce, Hamilton; Alan Poole, Kelowna, B.C.; and Frankie Nicks, Halifax. Preliminary heats, semi-finals and final of the 100-yard dash will be run Saturday. Jim Worrall, lanky Montreal hurdler, makes his chief bid in the 440-yard hurdle.

EDWARDS FAVORED Sam Richardson and Ray Cooper, Toronto, and George Sutherland, Calgary, will compete in the running, long, and jump. Jerry Seapson, Montreal, and Joe Addison, Victoria, are scheduled for 880-yard heats. The final will be run Monday. British observers believed Phil Edwards, ruling for British Guiana, would win.

City Welcomes Kinsmen In Convention

Delegates From Whole Dominion Attend Conclave

Nearly 200 Outside Members of National Service Club Organization Started Three-day Session in Victoria To-day

In arranging for the business and entertainment of nearly 200 delegates to the fourteenth annual convention of the National Association of Kinsmen Clubs, members of the local group have overlooked nothing which would tend toward the comfort and pleasure of their guests.

For several weeks the Victoria Kinsmen, under the capable guidance of Kinman Ed. Savannah, have done nothing but consider convention plans and arrange details in such a manner as to insure the smooth running of the three-day conclave. Every member was given a job to perform and by co-operative effort the local executives were able to present to their visitors a complete programme of widely diversified entertainment.

For hardly a minute during their stay will the members or their wives and friends be without some means of occupying their time. Special events have been arranged for men and ladies, while at other functions they will join forces.

Stag parties, boat races, golf and softball games, picnics and beach parties are included in the programme, and for each a committee of the local club will have charge. The local members have also arranged for their guests to have an opportunity of viewing Victoria's beauty spots.

All business meetings will be held in the Empress Hotel, as well as several luncheons, the national president's banquet and the national president's ball, the outstanding social function of the convention, to be attended by both Kinsmen and the spouses at large. Two picnic outings will be held on Saturday, the concluding day of the gathering. The first of these, in the afternoon, will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Shale at Killarney Lake, while the second will take the form of a beach party at Mount Douglas Park, through the courtesy of E. B. Rogers. Harry Short will cater for both functions.

After registration this morning and a short business session, the delegates were officially welcomed on behalf of the city by Mayor Leeming, who was their luncheon guest. E. C. Nicholas, editor of The Times, will address their luncheon to-morrow afternoon.

The following executives and committees had charge of the convention arrangements: Manager, Ed. Savannah; assistant manager, George Young; treasurer, Stan Martin; secretary, Cecil Luckhart; publicity, Bob Male, chairman, Vern Ridgway; Don McIntosh, Jack Gibson, and Ron Whittington; transportation, Ty. Dickinson, chairman, Bob Shanks, Ernie Harris and Ernie Dyson; stag party, Bill Pasmore, chairman, Fred Burns, Peter Balgony, Bill Dillabough, sports, Pat Mulcahy, chairman, Alan Wright, Ernie Stock, Joe McAllister and Howard Tyrrell; president's ball, Dr. Art Poyntz, chairman, Geo. Patt, Alf. Poole, Ed Smith, Stan Miles and Ainslie Heimechen; boat race, Hugh Francis and Ted Sanders; reception committee, Ted Sanders, chairman, Dr. Ben. Nickells and Ainslie Heimechen; lunch, Walter Miles, chairman, and Cecil Luckhart; co-ordination committee, Vernon Ridgway, Harry Elwood, Ken McMillan and Geo. Young; picnic, Cecil Luckhart and Mrs. Luckhart, Ken McMillan and Mrs. McMillan, and Pat Mulcahy.

DILLINGER POST-MORTEM

Chicago, Aug. 1 (Associated Press).—Coroner Frank J. Walsh said to-day scientists under his direction were studying portions of the brain and vital organs of the slain John Dillinger. Pathologists sought traces of abnormality or disease which might have had some influence on Dillinger's anti-social tendencies. A report on their findings would be made soon, the coroner said.

TWO KINSMEN ARE WRITERS

Organization Boasts Pair of Canadian Authors in Membership

In any organization conducted on principles close to those adopted by the Kinsmen Association there is bound to be a wealth of variety in the vocations and professions of the individual members. Among the hundreds of Kinsmen, however, practically every calling in life is represented.

Numbered in Kinsmen ranks are two writers, each of whom has achieved no small distinction in the Canadian world of literature. These are Will Reeves of Toronto and Adrian MacDonald of Peterboro, both of whom have had books published in the last year.

EDITED MAGAZINE
Will Reeves is known to all Kinsmen as editor for two years of the association's national magazine "Kin". He is as well known to the student of Canadian literature for his co-editorship with William Arthur Dawson of "Open House," an aggressive compilation of essays dealing with strictly Canadian topics. "Open House" made its appearance late in 1931 and presented the thoughts of twenty-two contemporary Canadian writers. Subjects treated in the books are, "The Stigma of Colonialism," "Debunking Imperialism," and "The Fallacy of Youth." It is a book which would well repay anyone's time to read.

CANADIAN LIFE STORY
"Profound" is the title of a novel by Adrian MacDonald, a member of the Peterboro club, which appeared about the same time. It is a story with a Canadian setting, not with the typical Canadians in the more popular centres.
Mr. Reeves was elected next district governor of the Kinsmen Clubs in Ontario and the Maritimes at the recent district convention held in Toronto. In business life he is the secretary-manager of the confectionery, chocolate and biscuit industries of Canada.

He is a Kinsman

"He is a Kinsman," let it be a mark of true nobility. A badge that youth is proud to wear. An honored name that none would dare.

To smirch with word or action less than honesty, and manliness.

"He is a Kinsman," let it stand for those who love their native land; For strong Canadian sons, and true Who vision mighty tasks to do To weld and build the northern zone By native brawn and brain alone.

"He is a Kinsman," let it mean That he has sensed, and he has seen The depths of misery and pain Around him, and his duty plain— We'll strive some health and help to bring The needy, and the suffering.

"He is a Kinsman," let it lead Convention to the name of "friend." Let heart, hand and foot find That mind has linked itself with mind.

Let comradeship so weld the tie That Kinsmanship will never die.

HOSTS FOR CONVENTION

DR. ARTHUR POYNTZ
Dr. Poyntz and Dr. Nickells, two members who have long been associated with the Victoria Kinsmen Club, are acting as hosts for the national convention. Dr. Poyntz is national president and presides at all business sessions, while Dr. Nickells is the president of the local club. Dr. Poyntz is a past president of the local branch.

Kinsmen's Song

(To the Tune of Madelon)
Here we are, together once again
One and all, a happy bunch of men,
Leave your cares and worries for a while
Let your face break forth in smile.
Look around, grab someone by the hand
Grip your toes, and show you're full of sand.
Now, all set, let's shout to beat the band
"Kinsmen, Kinsmen, Kinsmen!"

Clubmen to Compete For Five Trophies

Various Contests Arranged At Every National Convention for Kinsmen With Awards for Each

Delegates to the Kinsmen convention this week will compete for five trophies in various contests. The organization has been fortunate within the last ten years in receiving several donations in the nature of trophies presented by their own members for annual competition. The trophies are as follows: Long Expansion Cup, Editor's Trophy, Founder's Attendance Cup, Patinson Challenge Trophy and Soft Ball Cup.

The Long Expansion Cup was donated by Harold M. Long, national president of the association for the year 1923-24. It is presented to the club founding the largest number of clubs during the preceding year.

The Editor's Trophy was donated by J. C. Ritchie, who was the national historian in 1931. It is for presentation to the club represented by the editor of the best bulletin for the last year.

The Founder's Cup was donated by Hal Rogers, who is the original founder of the Kinsmen Club. The cup is to be presented to the club having the highest average attendance during the previous year.

There are two remaining cups to be awarded in the field of athletics, namely golf and softball. The trophies are contested for annually at the convention as part of the entertainment. The Patinson Challenge Trophy was donated by Dr. Verne Patinson of Toronto in 1919. Each club in the association must enter one team of two players in golf and one team of two players in softball.

The Softball Cup was donated in 1932 by the Simcoe Club for competition between the different Kinsmen Clubs existing in Canada at each national convention.

Keep smiling, do your part, In act and thought and deed. To unkind word to hurt the heart Shall ever be thy creed. Make someone happy every day. Enjoy your friends, yet have them. No Kinsman's passed me by to-day.

Kinsmen Offers Young Men Wide Field

Big Development Has Marked Local Club's Progress

Nucleus of Three Was Responsible For Present Branch Here Which Was Started in 1926; Roster Now Over Thirty-five

Since its founding in 1926, the Kinsmen Club of Victoria has grown steadily and has now assumed a place among the leading service clubs of the city, contributing its share of the welfare work carried on by these organizations.

Its membership is confined solely to young men, and during the last eight years the club has been the means of interesting many of these in assisting several charitable institutions, a work which they probably would not have taken up through other channels.

Annually a large portion of the club's revenue is given over to various homes in Victoria, while every Christmas the club undertakes the distribution of hundreds of hampers to needy families.

ORGANIZED IN 1926

Organization of the Victoria Club was due directly to John T. Gifford of Toronto. In 1926, during February, Mr. Gifford came to the city to survey prospects for forming a branch club here. He communicated with Dr. Stanley F. Miles, Alvin J. Helmcken and L. J. Colpman, and after a luncheon together the quartette decided to plant the seed of Kinsmen in Victoria.

Subsequently the first meeting was called, attended by twenty young men, and Mr. Helmcken was made the first president. Mr. Helmcken, Dr. Miles, J. Edwin Sanders and Archie Smith are the only charter members on the club's roster to-day.

Successive presidents since 1927 were: Gordon Campbell, Walter S. Miles, R. A. B. Wootton, Dr. S. F. Archie W. Smith and Dr. B. E. Nickells, the present leader.

WELL-KNOWN HOSTS

The club has built up an enviable reputation as a host at various entertainments. For the last few years Kinsmen have taken an active part in arranging of the Empire Day festivities and have contributed to them with frolics and other entertainments. A number of social gatherings, to which the public have been admitted, have also been outstanding successes.

The club has also taken part in athletic and last year won the Algonquin Worthington Football Trophy for service club teams. In addition the club has participated in Service Club Council undertakings.

The officers of the club to-day include: Dr. Nickells, president; Richard E. Miles, vice-president; Robert E. Miles, secretary; George F. Sall, treasurer; Walter Miles, editor; Tyson Dickinson, assistant secretary; Herbert Robinson, Jack T. Gibson and William Peasmore, directors.

THE CREED OF KINSMANSHIP

The creed of Kinsmanship is set forth in Article 3 of the constitution. Every Kinsman should be familiar with the principles of his service club. For our readers' benefit we quote them herewith:

"The object of the association shall be to promote and direct fellowship among young business and professional men within the Dominion of Canada to the end:

"1. That they may be improved and educated in modern business and professional methods and ethics;
"2. That the interest of each in the welfare of his community may be stimulated;
"3. That constitutional authority may be upheld;
"4. That a spirit of true Canadian nationalism and patriotism as a nation within the British Empire be fostered and stimulated and that unity of thought and purpose

SASKATOON KINSMEN MALE CHORUS

This body of vocalists, all members of the Kinsmen Club of Saskatoon, give freely of their time and talent for the entertainment of those who are deprived of their customary relaxations. They have won the appreciation of hundreds. Their concert last winter drew capacity crowds. In musical achievement this aggregation is outstanding among combinations of its kind in western Canada, having won the Service Club Male Chorus Shield for six successive years at the Saskatchewan Provincial Musical Festival, and winning the commendation of festival judges every year. They are capably led by W. Seemer Betts, who has been director of the Kinsmen Male Chorus ever since its inception six years ago. Mr. Betts (seated centre, front row) is attending the national convention. The formation of this group demonstrates the wide scope of Kinsmen work in its public-spirited activities. The singers regularly give concerts in aid of charity and other worthy objectives.

Founding Of Club For Young Men Was Rotarian's Scheme

CONCLAVE MANAGER

By CECIL HALLIDAY, National Historian

Before the origin of Kinsmanship becomes like other venerable institutions in so far as its history is concerned and its origin lost in the mists of antiquity, it has been thought that a few facts about our organization might be of some interest to newer members at least.

It was the outcome of an ideal in the mind of Hal Rogers and was implanted there by Hal's father, a Rotarian, who suggested to him that there should be room for a service club for the younger business men more of an age than was found in the older clubs but with similar ideals and the desire to add their small bit towards the betterment of Victoria Kinsman, who acted as general manager for the fourteenth annual convention now in session here. It was due largely to Mr. Savannah's efforts that the well planned programme for the three-day gathering was arranged.

Tom Barton, Al. Hume, governor of Kinsmen Clubs in Saskatchewan, and W. Seemer Betts, an honorary member, besides several members of its executive. And from all reports, these young men from the Hub City are not only visiting Victoria to renew acquaintances with their fellow kin from all points throughout the Dominion, but with the intention of making a bid for the national convention for Saskatoon in 1935.

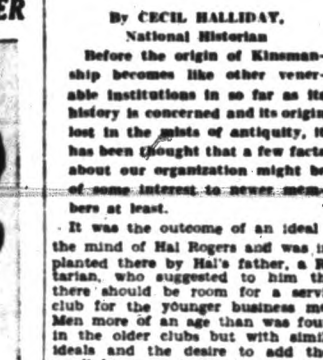

The Saskatoon club will also propose a slate of national officers for the association from within its ranks, headed by G. Aubrey Dobson, the nominee for the position of national president. Mr. Dobson is one of the Saskatoon delegates to the national convention here.

As a means of transporting its members the Saskatoon club started months ago on the organization of a public excursion to the Pacific Coast which left Saskatoon on July 20, picking up passengers, including other Kinsmen delegates, at Regina and Calgary. The excursion, which included many Saskatoon residents, came as far as Vancouver, and a large number continued on to Victoria.

INITIAL MEETING

From the records at the disposal of the historian it is found that the initial meeting took place in the Mandarin Inn, King Street, East, Hamilton, Ont., on January 22, 1920. There were fifteen young men present, and they were addressed on the aims and ideals of a service club by E. V. Illey, manager of the Standard Bank and a well-known figure in Hamilton for a number of years.

A notice was sent out for a meeting on February 6, 1920, which was to be an inaugural meeting. Minutes of these meetings do not appear to have been kept, but we find that letters were sent out on March 20, under the name of Young Men's Business Club, and again on April 5 under the name of Kinsmen Club. We regret we have been unable to find any information as to the change of name. However, we can set the date as between March 20 and April 5, 1920.

GROWTH OF KINSMANSHIP

With the removal of some of the original Hamilton Kinsmen to the different parts of the Dominion and their zeal for the idea, they preached the good word, and from that similar clubs have been organized until at the present time we number some thirty-eight clubs extending from British Columbia to Quebec, with a membership of over 1,500.

Late Selling Burst Lowers Grain Level

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Aug. 2.—Swept by a late outburst of selling, wheat futures prices finished near the close of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Values finished 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower, early gains being wiped out.

Final prices showed: October at 84 1/2, December 89 and May at 85 1/2 to 84.

Values moved erratically throughout, opening advances of 1/4 cent as 1/2 cent being quickly replaced by half-cent losses.

Heavy profit-taking selling, supplemented by some selling from the government agency, event values down from their early tops, giving a strong undertone to the market.

Liverpool closed 1/4 to 1/2 higher. Cash grains were fairly active today, but spreads closed generally unchanged. Coarse grains futures followed the lead of wheat.

CHICAGO Associated Press
Chicago, Aug. 2.—Profit taking sales on advances wiped out gains in wheat prices late to-day, and caused net losses in corn.

Upturn which failed to hold were swept largely on August unofficial crop estimates indicating the 1934 yields of the five principal cereals were below domestic requirements.

Wheat closed uneven, 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, compared with yesterday's finish. September new 1.08 to 1.09, corn 1/4 to 1/2 down, September 70 to 70 1/2, oats unchanged to 1/4 up and provisions 7 to 15c advanced.
